"heat wave" which has descended on campus in the last week is causing temperatures to rise in many buildings on campus. Temperatures in Coleman Hall are consistently between 80 and 85 degrees, Francis Willis, an Economics Dept. secretary, said Thursday. The Library has had more of the same, as temperatures in that building are remaining in the mid-80s, Rao, head of the information dept., said Thursday afternoon.

He has called the Physical Plant so many times about the situation that there is "no point in calling anymore."

The library's problem is most pronounced in the Study and Relax Room on the second floor, Rao said.

Reasonable warm weather is "95 per cent" for the heating problems of Coleman Hall, Booth Library, Everett Alms, superintendent of the Physical Plant, said Thursday.

He said that air conditioners had already been turned on, and that "no heat was turned on in any building."

He also attributed the rise in individual room

Students steam in hot buildings temperatures to heat generated by "human bodies and light fixtures."

Residence halls have also suffered.

In Carman Hall, many residents have been complaining for two weeks or more.

Mary Schmitt, of the Ninth Floor North, said her room has been "like a steam bath" for the last two weeks.

Mike Hays and Jerry Ulrich of the Second Floor North, have had similar problems.

"It started more than a week before the heat wave hit," Hays said.

"We're checking out the city ordinance concerning the possibility of turning a dorm room into a massage and steam parlor," he added.

Many calls have been made to the Carman Hall desk complaining about the heating problems, Rita Pell, one of Carman Hall's counselors, said Thursday.

The rooms on the west side of the building seem to be suffering the most, Pell said.

The staff has made complaints to the power plant several times, Pell said. The most recent complaint was made Wednesday afternoon, she said.

Pell said she wasn't sure if workers had come out since then, because "they don't tell us if they're here, they just do the work."

Workers went to Carman Hall on Friday of last week to answer a heating complaint, Don Metcalf, of the Physical Plant, said Tuesday.

Physical Plant workers answered the call within an hour and they discovered and repaired a ruptured diaphragm on a steam valve. Metcalf said.

The work done Friday had some effect on the situation in Carman's lounge, which had been "roasting" and which cooled considerably, Pell said.

However, the repair work done on the valve apparently had little effect on the dorm rooms, as complaints are still being made to the Carman desk, Pell said.

If a student has a complaint about heating, he ought to call the desk, and they will complain to the Physical Plant, Nick Nicklaus, the co-counselor at Carman South, said Thursday.

Tavern owners want Sunday liquor owners and managers of 15 bars and restaurants have a petition urging the City Council to pass an ordinance allowing them to sell alcoholic beverages on Sunday.

The petition contends that they are being treated fairly as the two package liquor stores, Eastside Liquor, and the Charleston Country Club and Charleston Holiday Inn are allowed to serve liquor on Sundays.

The ordinances allow one restaurant, one bar and one motel or hotel to serve liquor from between noon Sunday and Monday and the package liquor stores to sell from 1 to 6 p.m. on Sunday.

The petition states six reasons why the petitioners feel they should be allowed to do business on Sunday:

-Fairness and equality would dictate that all business establishments be treated equally.

-Package liquor stores, Charleston Country Club and the Holiday Inn enjoy the privilege of being able to conduct business on Sundays.

-The tavern owners would like the opportunity to provide entertainment for Eastern students.

-License fees are high and tavern owners need Sundays to increase their revenue.

-Taverns in Mattoon enjoy the privilege of being open on Sundays and many Charleston residents travel to Mattoon and surrounding cities for the purpose of frequenting their establishments.

-Residents of Charleston should be provided the opportunity to eat and drink on Sundays.

"The crux of this issue is the equality thing, for both owners and customers," said Ron Tulin, a Charleston attorney who is handling the petition for the owners.

"The tavern owners want the same chance to sell their liquor as the Holiday Inn and the Country Club people have and the people who can't afford to go to those places want someplace reasonable to go drink."

Tulin said that he wasn't sure which way the issue would go when it reached the City Council for a vote.

"It should come up at the Nov. 5 meeting and be voted on at the next meeting. I think it will be a close vote, a 3-2 split.

"It's no longer a question of whether Charleston will be wet or dry but whether or not people will be able to drink where they want."

"The first count says it all," said a Charleston tavern owner who asked to remain unidentified. "We feel that if

Nixon's doctor: dangers still exist

BEACH, Calif. (AP) - Former President Richard M. Nixon may be in danger again, his doctors said after examining him.

Doctors said it is possible a slight drop in Nixon's hemoglobin level was caused by bleeding but "normal hemoglobin," a temporary decrease in red cell contraction from cells not normally.

Doctors are keeping in mind that this is a ooze of blood into the abdominal cavity behind the abdomen. John C. Lungren and Eldon B. said in a written statement.

Physicians said they hoped to soon learn the cause of the decreased hemoglobin level, which was detected in the blood.

Nixon remained in critical condition Wednesday, though his vital signs - blood pressure, pulse and heart beat - were stable.

Nixon was described by the doctors as being in "excellent spirits and alert to all going around him."

Doctors said "The possibility still exists of further complications. It is still difficult to offer a prognosis at this time."

Nixon was flying to Los Angeles 13 miles north of the hospital, for a campaign dinner.

Nixon's spokesman and Ford's press secretary have said that Ford had no contact with Nixon.

Doctors are hoping whether Nixon's life was endangered, Lungren said in a statement Wednesday that he hoped that hemorrhaging had been arrested. He said for former president was receiving medication for pain and occasional nausea.

people want to go out for a drink on Sunday, it is foolish for us not to be able to provide it for them.

"Now you can't even go to the Pizza Hut and have a beer. It's wrong. If people want to drink, they will. They'll go to Mattoon or Champaign."

The tavern owner said that the places that do stay open on Sunday to try to make some money really don't have that much of a chance.

He also claimed that it was not just a group of bar owners trying to keep the bars open but a group of businessmen trying to provide a service for the community as well as make some money.

"When most people think of bars they think of students getting drunk. This is not the case. Not only bar owners but the club and restaurant owners signed the petition."

The owner said that about a year ago at this time, the bar and restaurant owners tried to get the council to adopt a similar ordinance.

"The church people got together and packed the council room when the motion came up for a vote and forced the council to shelve it. We did get them to open the package stores on a limited basis, however."

Charleston Mayor Bob Hickman was unavailable for comment.

Lobbying efforts CAA passes withdrawal extension proposal to be discussed by Doug Whitley

Doug Whitley, executive director of the Association of Illinois Student Governments (AISG), will discuss lobbying techniques and strategy Saturday at a convention being held here.

Whitley will speak at the convention of the Great Lakes Association of College Residence Halls (GLACRH) in Room 219 of Coleman Hall three times on Saturday.

Craig Ullom, president of Eastern's Residence Hall Assn., said Whitley will discuss lobbying efforts in hour-long talks at 8:30, 9:30 and 10:30 a.m. His presentations will be open only to students who are registered for the convention.

Whitley was chosen to discuss lobbying because he is considered to be knowledgeable in the field, Ullom said.

Students will have until the 70th day of a semester to withdraw from a class without being liable for a WF grade under a proposal passed Thursday by the Council on Academic Affairs (CAA).

Under the proposal students would also be able to withdraw from a course up to 10 days before final examination begin. Presently, students can drop a course until 21 days before finals and be liable for a WF grade after 45 class days.

If approved by President Fite, the policy recommendations would go into effect during the summer semester.

Rules for withdrawing from a course now allow students to drop within the first 10 calendar days of a semester without having any grade recorded.

After the 10th day and through the 45th day students who withdraw from a class receive a W grade. After the 45th day they will receive a W if they are passing and a WF grade if they are failing.

A WF - withdrawal-failing - is the same as an F grade. A student receives honor points but the course is counted in figuring the grade average.

The recommendation passed by the CAA only extends the time for the withdrawal provisions.

Something will be done to secure dormitory doors during Thanksgiving break, said Craig Ullom, president of the Residence Hall Association (RHA), at the Thursday meeting.

Ullom said that this was reported to him by Vice President for Student Affairs Glenn Williams, but that he would give no further comment.

Ullom also said he talked to Jim White of the Illinois Board of Governors about the chaining of dorm doors during breaks but was told that the problem was "out of his hands."

After dormitory thefts last year during Christmas and Spring breaks chains were placed on dorm doors, but during the summer the Housing Office was ordered to remove the chains since they were in violation of the Occupational Safety and Health Act (OSHA).

Dale Thomas of the RHA Facilities Committee had previously been told that Eastern might be granted special permission to evade the law.

The law states that the chaining of dormitory doors is against the law while the building is occupied. Thomas said Eastern may be able to take the chains off the doors from 7 a.m. to 4 p.m. while the maids and janitors are in the buildings.

RHA recommended last week that President Fite come to a meeting so that he can be made aware of the student's feelings about the subject, but the earliest Thursday night that he can come is Dec. 5.

Another motion, made last week, to march on President Fite's house if he would not listen to the students was voted on and defeated.

Beverly Sterling, residence hall food service director, was asked by the RHA Food Service Committee about the possibility of students eating in different dorms during the weekends but said that too much bookwork would be involved.

She also said that letters to all dormitory students explaining the importance of not taking food from the cafeteria would be sent out this week due to the great increase in theft this year.

A motion was made for RHA to take $120.50 out of the treasury to help pay for Eastern's delegation to the Great Lakes Association of College and University Residence Halls (GLACURH) being held here this weekend.

Student Senate commends Walker for opposition to tuition increase

By John Ryan

A letter commending Gov. Dan Walker for his stand against tuition increases at state colleges and universities was approved at Thursday's Student Senate meeting.

Sending a letter to Walker was approved after Kevin Kerchner, financial vice president, reported to the senate that there is a motion in a subcommittee of the Board of Higher Education (BHE) to increase tuitions at state colleges.

Kerchner predicted that the tuition increase will be passed by the BHE subcommittee's approval and "it's almost certain they'll (BHE) approve it."

A motion from the BHE to approve a tuition increase would have to pass through both houses of the Illinois legislature before being adopted.

Last year, he said that the Association of Illinois Students Governments (AISG) along with other state-wide university organizations petitioned against a tuition increase. Among other factors, he said that the petitions helped defeat a proposed increase in tuition.

Kerchner said that this year the students state-wide are going to need the same kind of petitions and other lobbying to defeat the increase.

Last year, he said that student signatures received on the petition at Eastern were estimated at between 5,000 to 6,000.

Kerchner said of this year's effort to halt a possible tuition increase, "This is going to take a lot of work."

The senate's Political Studies Committee is going to handle the task of getting students to sign the petition against increased tuition.

In other action, the senate approved two appointments to student activity boards.

Diane Pavlik, a junior from Norridge, was appointed to the Sports and Recreations Board, while Bruce Bentcover, a junior from Hoffman Estates, was appointed to the Student Supreme Court.

Senate should reconsider proposed election date change

The Student Senate has okayed a referendum seeking the student body's approval for the changing of executive officers elections from February to December.

We commend the senate for taking the initiative to get the present election date changed to a time more compatible with other governmental functions.

However, while we agree that the senate's proposed election date is better than the present one, we do not feel that it is the best date possible.

We feel that executive officer elections should be held in May.

The senate's proposal does eliminate one of the main problems at issue; it will prevent both incoming and outgoing student body presidents from losing their tuition reimbursements for their service. A May election would also solve this problem.

If a student takes over as president, vice president or financial vice president, in January, he or she will be faced with a tremendous amount of work since the changeover from one administration to another will take place at the middle of the academic school year.

Should the student body officers assume their duties during the summer, however, they would gradually be able to learn the functions of their office on a less hectic basis, as summer term is not as demanding as fall or spring.

A student government official has said that taking office in January, when the budget is being planned, would be beneficial to the financial vice president who could then help determine the financial priorities.

This may seem reasonable, but a student just assuming office will probably know little about the internal operations and therefore be a less effective student spokesman.

A student who has served as financial vice president through summer and fall terms, however, would most likely be better able to help draw up a budget based on experience.

Our recommendation is a little belated, but the referendum should not be held until December when the Senate will reconsider and if needed amend the date before the students vote.

'Stunt man' adds to movie view

The greatest contribution that Friscina Enterprises may have ever given to the Will Rogers Theater is its new manager, Walter Childers.

With nearly 30 years of experience in the motion picture business, Childers (pronounced with the long i) is one of the few professional promotionists in the field of movie managing.

Armed with a keen imagination and a sense of public demand, Childers has pulled off some of the most sensational and mind-boggling promotional stunts associated with motion picture enterprise. His promotions include such things as costume parties, pie eating contests, elaborate displays and on-stage entertainment before and after movies.

One of his recent turns of the imagination had him hauling an old car to the Charleston Drive-In Theater for the showing of "Big Bad Mama." The sheriff was called out to punch holes into the jalopy before splattered "blood" on the car. On the windows was written "Mama was here."

When "Dirty Harry" opened at the theater in Shelbyville, Ind., people to buy tickets came with a souvenir .44 magnum bullet inscription: "Compliments Harry."

For "Planet of the Apes," Childers had one of his sons dress in a gorilla suit and swing around outside the theater to muster more business. Tactics have varied, but entertainment is usually attributed to particular celebration.

"I once had monsters come around the screen," Childers says. "His all night spook spectacles, each monster carrying a light to shine on their faces." He adds that a particular gimmick resulted in the audience diving for cover.

Other stunts Childers has incorporated include a bomb car trunk with Ketchup on it and he even gave the character Terri his start in theater by giving him $25 to come down a few words before showing "Dark Shadows."

Childers hopes his promotions and gimmicks will "get people going to movies in town and not risking driving hazards to somewhere else." His selection is geared to "give something to the audience as well as for the adults."

But Childers' abilities go beyond just being a good promoter. He is a collector of movie equipment, some of which dates back to the "pre-movies" era.

Childers' hard work and his business has paid off in a big way. He was awarded "Citizen of Indiana" in 1972 and his name has been placed in the Congressional Record. He ran for mayor but later decided against it.

Childers knows his business and knows that people are a part of it. His expertise as a promoter and manager is a contribution to the community as well as the theater.

How can this marriage be saved?

WASHINGTON--When Gerry Ford first became President he told Congress that he didn't want a honeymoon -- he wanted a marriage. Everyone stood up and applauded.

But after being wed to Congress for a couple of months, Ford wants to call it quits. What this country needs more than anything else right now is a good family counselor to see if this marriage can be saved.

"Won't you come in and be seated?"

"I'm not going to sit anywhere near the Democrats," Ford said angrily.

"Johnson was right," the Democrats reply. "He did play football without a helmet."

"Now, now," the family counselor says. "We're not going to get anywhere with that attitude. Let's deal with your side first, Ford. What seems to be the trouble?"

"All they do in this family is spend money. I'm the head of the household and I'm trying to keep expenses down and they keep adding to inflation with a lot of stupid things we don't need."

"He vetoes everything we want to do," the Democrats chime in. "He still thinks he's in Grand Rapids."

"I can't live with them," Ford cries. "They handcuff me at every turn and they don't let me do anything with my neighbors. If we stay married, we'd probably go have a war with somebody."

The family counselor says to Ford, "But you've only been married less than three months. Didn't you know all these things when you first suggested tying the knot?"

"I thought they loved me," Ford mumbles, dabbing away a tear. "They kept saying I was such a nice guy and they flirted with me and made me feel like they wanted me. How did I know they'd be different once the vows were exchanged?"

The counselor turns to the Democrats. "Let's hear your side of it."

The Democrats purse their lips. "We wanted a good marriage. And we thought there would be one. But after he carried us across the threshold, we discovered the house was falling down. All he wanted to do was give it a light coat of paint when what it really needed was a new concrete foundation. He promised us once we were married he'd stop getting in bed with big business. But every time he goes on trip, he makes love to them.

"He blames us for everything that has gone wrong. He tells all the neighbors we're sloppy and we can't keep a clean house and we don't know how to cook. Everything we serve up to him he sends back. What the heck kind of marriage is that?"

"I'm only doing what's best for the family," Ford replies.

"Besides, he promised to give up the Dick Nixon crowd he used to hang around with, and he hasn't," the Democrats complain.

The family counselor says, "It seems to me, Ford, that you're making a serious mistake talking publicly about how unhappy you are. Whether you like it or not, you're going to have to live with the Democrats for another two years. By accusing them of all these terrible things, you're going to make it so much more difficult to have any domestic tranquillity."

"What am I supposed to do?" Ford cries.

"I know this may be difficult," the counselor suggests, "but is there any possible way of kissing and making up?"

"You must be out of your mind," the Democrats say.

"Out of the question," Ford says.

"I was afraid of that," the counselor says. "Why don't you all come back the day after Election Day. Maybe we can talk about it then."

In your editorial you stated that too many times Shipley votes the way his the constitution states—"government by the people for the people" maybe this is why Shipley has held his post for the

During a period of inflationary

Shipley, on the other hand, does have

UB to present 'Three in Attic'

Triple trouble with coeds is the plot behind the University Board movie, "Three in the Attic," showing at 6:30 and 9 p.m. Friday in McAfee Gymnasium.

Admission is 25 cents. Starring Yvette Mimieux, Christopher Penn and Judy Pace, "Three in the Attic" features a campus casanova who has firmly decided to remain a bachelor. Trouble starts however, when he runs into one good-looking female he can't conquer and she devises a plot to repay him for his conceit. He tries to rebel against his emotions but is ultimately destroyed by the three coeds he has been wooing.

Information directory to be distributed

By Susan Black

Ever want to get hold of your favorite professor? Or someone in your class? Or even Gilbert C. Fite? Well, soon all that information will be available in the 1974-75 campus information directory.

Harry Read, director of publications in the University Relations office said Thursday that the directory is to be shipped from the printing company on Nov. 11.

"I can't say when they'll be distributed but it will probably be a few days after the eleventh," he said.

Last year, Read said, the directories were out to the students earlier because the material was sent to the publisher earlier.

"This year the computer people were meticulous in checking the information on each student to make sure it was all correct," he said explaining the delay further.

The book will be the "same format and size" as last year's directory, he said.

Last year's directory was 162 pages of information which included a directory of every department on campus, instructor information, staff information and student information.

"We give most of them to Dean Kluge to distribute to the students," he said.

Dean of Student Housing, Donald Kluge said that the directories are distributed in the residence halls on a "one per room" basis.

He said that the off-campus students have to come to the Housing Office in the Student Services Building to pick up their directories.

Hinze: tickets go on sale Monday for Black Oak Arkansas concert

By Andy Opila
Tickets for the Nov. 19 Black Oak Arkansas concert at Lantz Gymnasium will go on sale at 9 a.m. Monday at the University Union Box Office for $4, $5 and $6.
Appearing also at the University Board (UB) sponsored concert will be special guests Jo Jo Gunne and the James Montgomery Band, Jim Hinze, vice-chairperson of the UB, said Thursday.
The concert is scheduled to start at 8 p.m. and each band will play for about one hour with Black Oak Arkansas appearing last.
The James Montgomery Band, from the Boston area, will perform first and are best known for their high energy performances, Hinze said.
Second to appear in the concert will be the West Coast group Jo Jo Gunne who play old-fashioned rock-and-roll.

Hinze reminds students that they can only purchase four of the $6 tickets in one transaction so that no sections of the seats will be bought out by one person.
However, there is no limit on the amount of $4 and $5 tickets that one person can buy, Hinze said.

Music workshop set for Monday

Eastern's Music Department is sponsoring an informal music workshop at 8 p.m. Monday in Dvorak's rehearsal hall for all interested people.
James M. Brinkman, assistant chairman of the Music Department, said that this workshop would permit performers and the audience to intermingle and discuss the works before

Theatre Arts to present play 'The Bacchae' in Playroom

By Steve Murray
Eastern's Theatre Arts Department will present its production of "The Bacchae" beginning Nov. 8 at 8 p.m. in the Playroom of the Fine Arts Center.
"The Bacchae" will also be performed Nov. 9, 11, 15, 16 and 18 at 8 p.m. along with two Sunday performances on Nov.

10 and Nov. 17 at 2 p.m.
E.G. Gabbard, director of "The Bacchae," said this is the first serious Greek play that the Theatre Arts Department has produced.
Gabbard added that this is the first time he has held a play in the Playroom which will have arena style seating, with a capacity of 150.
"The Bacchae" was written in 405 B.C. by Euripides and deals with some of the same problems that trouble people today.
Mike Boyle, who will play the god Dionysus, will lead a band of frenzied followers against the throng of King Pentheus, and will carry a live snake through the play, Gabbard said.
Reservations may be made at the Theatre Arts Ticket Office beginning Monday.
Tickets are $2 for adults, $1 for youth and 75 cents for Eastern students.

Testimony on early scuffle heard during Kent State trial

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — An early skirmish between Ohio National Guardsmen and Kent State University students was described in federal court Thursday as presentation of evidence started in thee trial of eight former Guardsmen indicted in the 1970 shooting.

The second witness, John P. Filo, a former Kent State student and photographic laboratory assistant, told the court he came out of Taylor Hall at about noon May 4, the day of the shootings.

Filo said he started taking pictures when he saw students gathered at the edge of the Commons, and Guardsmen grouped across the Commons near the burned-out Reserve Officers Training Corps building.

Whitt undecided on petitioning to keep bar open

By Jim Lynch

J.D. Whitt, the owner of Whitt's End, has not decided whether he will petition for administrative review to keep his restaurant-bar open, S. John Muller, Whitt's attorney, said Thursday.

The City of Charleston closed down Whitt's End Wednesday when the Illinois Liquor Control Commission denied a petition for rehearing on the city's decision not to renew Whitt's liquor license.

The request had been made by Muller after the commission ruled that Mayor Bob Hickman was justified in not renewing Whitt's license because Whitt violated the conditions of the license.

Muller said that he has not talked to Whitt yet and isn't sure whether he will take the next step in the legal process, a petition for administrative review in Circuit Court, to keep his establishment open.

Meanwhile, Whitt's End is closed and will stay closed until Whitt decides what he is going to do, said Ralph Stipes, manager of Whitt's.

"We're going to stay closed until Mr. Whitt decides what he is going to do but I'm sure that he will file an appeal. I'm not sure how long we'll be closed," said Stipes.

However, Whitt can keep Whitt's End open if he serves only soft drink and food. He has decided against doing this, said Stipes.

If Whitt does decide to file for administrative review, he will be able to serve liquor while the case is being renewed, said Muller.

City Attorney Tony Sunderman said that if Whitt decides to petition for administrative review the Circuit Court would probably uphold the findings of the liquor commission.

A Jeep was driving around the Commons telling students their gathering was illegal and they must disperse, he testified.

"This was met with jeers from the crowd and rocks thrown at the Jeep," File said.

Guardsmen fired several canisters of tear gas and some were picked up by persons in the crowd and thrown back, he said.

After the first tear-gas barrage, students were screaming and making obscene gestures at the Guardsmen, he said.

The jurors and the defendants went to the campus Wednesday to see the scene of the 13-second outburst of gunfire that killed four students and wounded nine others.

The shooting climaxed four days of student protest of U.S. military involvement in Cambodia.

Over $1.1 million in lottery winnings unclaimed

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) - More than $1.1 million in Illinois lottery winnings have gone unclaimed after the first 10 weeks of operation, lottery Supt. Ralph Batch estimated Thursday.

The figure is roughly 10 per cent of the $11,250,000 worth of winning tickets issued during the period.

Lottery winners have one year from the date of the drawing to cash in winning tickets, Batch said. At the end of a year, the unclaimed prize money is placed in the state treasury.

The level of unclaimed prizes "is pretty common throughout all state lotteries," Batch said in an interview.

The lottery director said most of the unclaimed cash was in the form of winning weekly lottery tickets.

He was unable, however, to say how many of the top $5,000 lotto prizes have gone unclaimed.

The unclaimed prize money includes the $20, $100 and $5,000 lotto games prizes and is figured on the basis of the guaranteed $1,000 for each Bonanza qualifier and $1,500 for each millionaire qualifier, lottery officials said.

The law establishing the lottery specifies that 40 per cent of the gross intake of ticket sales will be placed in the state treasury.

Lottery officials have said they hope to give 45 per cent to the state, return 45 per cent in prizes and use 10 per cent for administrative costs.

According to the monthly report prepared by the lottery office, the state received $9,210,000 from the lottery during the first two months of operation - about 45 per cent.

Twenty dollar prize winners, in order to claim their winnings, can make their claims at the store where the lottery tickets are sold.

To become a qualifier and a sure winner of some cash in either the Millionaire Game or Weekly Bonanza a lottery participant must match two of the three-digit numbers.

Fieldwomen begin pointing to sectional, national tourneys

by Mickey Rendok
Highlighting the women's intercollegiate field hockey season each year are the Midwest College and National Tournaments both leading up to the grand finale, nationals.

Attending this tournament is an honor earned on individual performance.

Basketball entries due Friday

Entries for the pre-holiday intramural basketball tournament are due by 5 p.m. Friday, William Riordan, director of intramurals, said Thursday.

instead of as a team.

Nov. 9-10, the Panthers travel to Normal, for the Midwest Tournament to participate in three games.

During this time, a committee of selectors comprised of representatives from the participating schools decide who will best represent each position for the sectional tournament in Decorah, Iowa. Two women for each position are selected.

The all-stars then travel to Iowa, Nov. 16-17 to be judged as worthy, again as individuals. If picked, then the All-Stars travel to Dekalb, Ill. for the nationals tournament Nov. 28 through Dec. 1.

Last year, Eastern's Emily Mollet was selected to one of the teams which went to nationals.

"This year we have more people who are worthy of this honor," Helen Riley, field hockey coach said, "but no one knows for sure what the judges outcome will be."

In discussing with her the possibilities that she might be chosen for nationals, Davis replied that naturally she would love to receive the opportunity.

The Panther team has two games left on their schedule this season, and the first one is away Saturday against Northern Illinois.

This is the first time these two teams have faced each other in dual competition.

Wednesday is the reschedule date for the away Indiana State game which was rained out Tuesday.

The Panthers have a overall record of 9-2-1.

Panthers try to cool off hot YSU Penguins

By Tom Jackson

Eastern will have a double incentive when they take on Youngstown State University before the home town fans on Mattoon Day Saturday.

Not only will the Panthers be looking to make up for a somewhat disappointing 10-10 tie at Ferris State last week, but will have the added initiative of being a spoiler.

Along with Central Michigan, Youngstown is a leading contender for a bid to the NCAA Division II Midwest post-season bowl playoffs.

However, the 5-1 Penguins cannot afford another loss.

Coach Jack Dean has a lot of respect for the Ohio school.

"I hate to sound like a coach, but I think they will be the toughest team that we've played so far."

"Their record, along with the films we've seen indicates they're a very tough team," Dean said in praise.

Though the Penguins are putting points on the board at a near 30-point per game clip, Dean feels their strong point is the defense that has allowed a mere 11 points a contest.

"They have a very aggressive defense. They're big and very strong."

"I think an indication of their confidence in their defense is that they very seldom make any changes in their defense. Ninety per cent of the time they go with the same defense."

Dean does feel that his team will have to make use of their speed if they are to be in the game with Youngstown.

Lumbia Tolliver--running things again?

"I think we're going to have to go outside," said Dean.

Dean is undecided whether Kevin Hussey or Lumbia Tolliver will start at quarterback.

After a lackluster performance against

Illinois State, Tolliver came up with a good game against Ferris State, gaining 50 yards rushing after replacing Hussey, who in Dean's words "wasn't getting the job done."

"He did a good job. He made a couple of mistakes, but overall he had a positive performance," said Dean of the sophomore signal caller.

Bob Reko will replace the injured Dave Stotlar at center, with possibly Dave Babcock or Kevin Lasley, both freshmen, seeing action.

Rounding out the interior line will be Andy Trice and Fred Thompson at tackles, while Sam Ragsdale and Steve Berg will be at guards.

Buck Drach will be at tight end and Jim Young will be at wide receiver.

Joining Tolliver or Hussey in the backfield will be halfbacks Gerald Bell and Steve Hagenbruch with the team's leading rusher, Mark Stettner at fullback.

Dean describes Youngstown as using "Basically a power offense."

"They try to grind it out. They don't throw much but when they do it is usually effective."

Dean feels that a lot of the responsibility to stop the Penguin-offense will rest on the defensive line and linebackers.

"We are pretty big up front and a lot of teams we've played have tried to stay away from us there."

"But I think they'll try us right away." Youngstown has outstanding rushers.

from Ontario, Canada is averaging 100 yards rushing a game.

Dave Garden has totaled 3 rushing and should become the all-time leading rusher next season.

Dean has a lot of respect for who gained 211 yards against Eastern last year.

Eastern will have the services of Balducci, whose been out for two weeks with a shoulder injury.

Dean thinks that the return of 250-pound senior linebacker, who the injury was the team's defensive leader, will be a big help.

"He's a senior and he's had a lot of experience. He kind of holds it together."

Harriers meet V in home finale

By Debbie Newman

Eastern's cross country Panthers encounter three good runners from the other side of the state as the Western Leathernecks travel to Charleston 11 a.m. meet Saturday.

This is the Panthers last dual meet of the year, as well as the last meet at home.

The three "good" runners from Western will be Dana Hiserote, Wheeler and Gavin.

Wheeler and Gavin placed second and third respectively in the Eastern-Western dual last season.

Hiserote finished just in front of Christy in the state meet at Western Saturday in his tenth place finish, 25:20.

This was one second ahead of the mark Mike Larson set as Western's previous course record last season.

Eastern beat Western by 27 points in the state meet, but even so, there is going to be 105 runners in this meet, enhancing the chances of Western getting close to Eastern.

Since this is a home meet, Coach Woodall will probably run all of the runners.

It will be the last time they will be able to run together in intercollegiate competition this season.

Eastern's leading harriers in the state will be dual champions Mike Larson, Rod Livesey, Ken Burke, John Christy, Nance, Don Sparks and Glen Lyle.

Mike Brehm, Bill Fancher, Weilmunster, Mike Lehman, VanVooren, Keith Gooden, Joe Rod Roth, Rusty Janota, Jim Hill, Raef, Bert Meyers, Mike Rorher, Haseman, Mike Novotny, Steve Pallen and John McDannald will all be runners.

Only 12 of the runners will be designated as competitors.

Last year Eastern beat Western 20-0. However, many of the Panthers have improved since.

Rick Livesey cut 44 seconds off his 1973 clocking on the Leatherneck course while Ken Burke improved his time by 15 seconds.

Even though Dave Nance did not run in this competition last year he turned in a 26:05 clocking at the state meet, comparable to Kin Hiserote's eighth place 26:00 finish in last year's dual.

If the Panthers win this one they will have completed their third consecutive undefeated dual season, and will have won 23 straight such meets.

Booters home to face Blackburn

By Dave Shanks

Eastern's soccer team lays its five-game winning streak on the line Saturday as they take on Blackburn College here at 11 a.m.

The Panthers are coming off a 10 day rest which Coach Fritz Teller hopes will not hurt the team. "We needed that time to get over some aggravating injuries. We also needed the rest after playing five games in 11 days," Teller said.

Blackburn is presently 8-3-1 and are, in Teller's words, "no pushover." "They move the ball and play a tough middle. They're a good team."

In the tournament recently held at Oct. 18 and 19 at Eastern, Blackburn defeated Wisconsin-Parkside and tied the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee.

Blackburn has, in the person of Abayomi John, a top flight scorer, Teller added.

They also boast a good forward, Azzez Ajala.

Eastern is rated 19 in the Intercollegiate Soccer Athletic Association's national poll this week.

Teller said, "The rating should give the kids the incentive to keep us in the poll."

"They're aware of the importance to win."

This is the first time this season that the Panthers have been ranked nationally.

Teller said practice has gone well with "a couple of good scrimages."

"The team should be able to come back after the long lay off and win."

Teller asked the Eastern students to come to Saturday's game and help cheer the Panthers on to victory.

Pi Kappa Alpha Grey Chatham grimaces as a pass from quarterback Jay Johnston sails past his outreached arms. Phi Sigs, Pikes pass opening playoff test

Both fraternity entries, Pi Kappa Alpha, and Phi Sigma Epsilon, passed opening round tests in the intramural-flag football university playoffs.

The Pikes, paced by Mike Harvick's two touchdowns, didn't allow a score until the fourth quarter in eliminating independent entry, the Titans, 20-7.

The Phi Sigs encountered stiff defense from a persistent Thomas Hall outfit, but had too much defense themselves for the dormies in their 13-0 shutout win.

Both winners advance to the semi-finals Monday, as the Phi Sigs will meet the Birds, while the Pikes will tangle with Carman Hall in 4 p.m. games.

The Titans will play Thomas Hall for fifth place at a time and day to be determined later.
